Taranaki Steelformers Around the Mountain Relay teams up with Taranaki Health Foundation

The Foundation and Steelformers Around the Mountain Relay are excited to announce their partnership – enabling people participating in the 21-leg event to give back to their local community through fundraising for enhanced Emergency Department services.

We are currently raising funds for Electronic Whiteboards benefiting the Taranaki Base and Hawera Emergency Departments. The white boards developed here by local Taranaki DHB staff, are interactive and touch-screen and make more efficient use of staff time and ultimately streamline the time patients spend in ED.

Selwyn Brown, the event organizer explains, “together with our sponsor, Steelformers, we consistently look for ways we can support our local community. On race day we will have more than 2,000 people out on the course. They have family and friends that are cheering them on and we thought that they may want to honor their runner by also supporting a local charity such as the Taranaki Health Foundation. If we can harness the energy and excitement that we see throughout the event to make a difference like the Electronic Whiteboards will – then that’s an amazing thing.”

Teams may seek donations through building their own page on the Foundation’s givealittle.co.nz site:

The team with the top donation will each receive a $25 gift certificate to Frontrunner, and the top individual will receive one for $50.

Rivet makes largest donation in their history

Joining the Foundation as a Partner, Rivet’s drive behind their largest donation in the Company’s history comes down to the benefits to their staff and their families, Taranaki based clients and of course the local community

“Mel and I believe in what the Foundation stands for,” owner Steve Scott explains. “Our donation will go directly to tangible additions to Taranaki healthcare that we as a region would not have otherwise. We are proud to be a part of local projects such as the Len Lye Centre, and see Project Maunga, the redevelopment of Taranaki Base Hospital as a regional project that benefits us all for years to come.”

The business began in 1991 and since purchasing the business in 2005, Steve and Mel, along with Rivet’s 40 employees have focused on growth and innovative products. Rivet are specialists in design, manufacturing and installation of stainless steel, engineering and sheet metal fabrications. Throughout New Zealand, Rivet are leading the way in the provision of a complete service to the dairy, water treatment, food, home, petroleum, gas, oil and electrical industries.

Foundation Trustee, Adrian Sole shares his thoughts, “It’s an exciting time for the Foundation to have Rivet join our group of Partners. We’re very grateful that they chose to help us towards our goal of the best possible healthcare for Taranaki communities with their largest donation to date. Our Trustees are completely volunteer, and we gladly and give our time to work to meet our goals. It’s moments like this, when we hear of Rivet’s support, that we celebrate the generosity of our community and the good work of our Taranaki DHB healthcare professionals.”
